Sewer rehabilitation pays off for village

by Jeff Wilson

Following the first phase of sewer rehabilitation in the village in 1993, flows in the system have dropped by 1,114,000 gallons.

During a presentation to coun-cil, Earl Brousseau, Project Man-ager with D.M. Robichaud Asso-ciates Ltd. told the council members the village was a model of how municipalities should tackle sewer rehabilitation.

Over the last two years the village has had sewer lines on both sides of Deer Creek repaired. The repairs have included root removal, a thorough flushing by high pressure cleaning unit to re-move all debris, in-line structural spot epoxy repairs at cracked locations, chemical grouting of every joint and chemical sealing of the manholes

The village has spent $220,000 in the last two years for the first two phases of the rehabilitation

In the report to council, phase three work will be based on 1994 costs, detailed plans for work in 1995 will be submitted in January 1995

Brousseau told council follow ing the rehabilitation work, they should consider a consistent yearly cleaning program. He said $4,000 to $5,000 would allow the village to clean half the system one year and the other half the next year.

Quote: Consumers are speaking out. These are some of their concerns

The phase-out of institutions into independent living affected me personally. At first there were lots of services but now there are cutbacks. This worries me.

We need to get back in touch with the smaller communities, back to our grass roots. We need to share information with our people in these communities. If people start projects, we need to see them through to the end. In conferences, it all sounds wonderful but then the momentum dies

"The movement is remarkably well established. However, with the recent events that have occurred with PUSH Ontario, I am concerned with the possible demise of the self-help movement in Eastern Ontario. We must get to-gether to see who is doing what now and to coordinate our needs and activities in Eastern Ontario. This is critical.

"Progress has been slow but steady. Now we need to do some thing to boost new awareness and action because things have bogged down. Bill 168, the Ontarians with Disabilities Act. could be incentive for us to get going."

"The concept of self-help is a fine one, but who interprets it?"

"The movement is not grow-ing, it's decreasing. There is a lack of money from the government and of support from disa-bled group members for each We need to get the public more involved in access issues for the disabled, including hidden disabilities

Typically, organizations don't work together. They work against themselves. We need to work together to form strong coalitions. 'Things have moved a long way and now grass root consumers are working with organiza-tions rather than organizations working for them. The difficulty lies in the systemic structure There is still not enough voice for people with disabilities to make changes in the larger structure.

We have to help each other out. You can't do it alone. You don't get anywhere on your own. You have to have allies. We're struggling right now and we have to make it better.

"The advocacy movement here Ontario is at a mid-life crisis. The basic services are mainly in place. We need to move to the next stage which is negotiation and conciliation, not confrontation. We need to consult, plan, and strategize with local communities. We need to set up a detailed full year, plan with goals includ-ing specifics: who is going to do what, and how and when will it be done. Most importantly, the crossdisability community needs to constantly remind itself of our common goal. How can groups with differing needs make the lives of all people with disabilities bet-

Barbara's Notes: The above messages from Independent Living (Kingston Independent Living Resource Centre) make a heck of a lot of sense! When you think about it, each town has different group meetings. They all have their little groups, which consist of maybe 10, 14, or 17. "An Undue Obstacle"

The National Transportation Agency of Canada has ordered Air Transat to reimburse a customer after an investigation found that the airline's handling of a seating reservation created an undue obstacle for a passenger with a disability.

The problem occurred when Lynn Garnist and her mother boarded a flight from Toronto to London, England. When Mrs. Gamish booked the flight, she reserved bulkhead seating to accommodate her mother's disabil-ity. She gave Air Transat a medi-cal certificate verifying her mother's disability. Although Air Transat staff assured Mrs. Garnish they would accommodate her request, bulkhead seating was not available when the two passengers boarded the plane.

Instead, airline personnel moved the two passengers to more spacious Club Class seating just before take-off. Mrs. Garnish and her mother were each charged an extra $100 for the upgrade.

"Many people have a fear of reptiles," Bry says, "particularly śnakes

"This is not a natural fear," he notes. "It is a "learned fear" -- usually from childhood."

Though for the moment dubbed the Indian River Sanctuary, the Loysts have yet to settle on a final name for their year-round business.

"We are still debating the name of our reptile exhibit." Bry says.
"Although we have spent time working with the name "Reptile River Walk," we think that "Indian River Sanctuary" may be more accurate since we will be offering sanctuary to many reptiles and our address is Indian tiles and our address is Indian River."

Safe, secure

Many of the reptiles Bry now has were given to him by people who could not care for them.

"We expect that once we open we will be required to offer sanctuary to abandoned reptiles.

"Sadly, it is not only cats and dogs that get abandoned," he says. "Many people buy pet turtles and snakes for their kids and don't realize they will grow. He says feeding and cleaning will be conduced from behind in a supervised area not accessible to the public.

The "Sanctuary" will be designed so visitors can walk from one exhibit to another viewing exotic reptiles in a climate-controlled atmosphere with the sounds of waterfalls, exotic birds and frogs in the background.

The exhibits will be "interesting, colourful and educational,'

"The theme is designed to teach (and) to help people better understand the importance of reptiles and their role in the survival of our planet

"We will show the beauty of these animals and explore the many myths about snakes and liz-ards," he said.

The "prehistoric wonder" of alligators, crocodiles and turtles will be presented in a unique set-

Don't drink and drive

The Ontario Provincial Police will-join other police agencies and organizations until Decem-31, 1994 for the annual R.I.D.E. (reduce impaired driving everywhere) campaign. In effect since 1987, the roadside checks have proven to be very successful in preventing drinking and driving.

This year, M.A.D.D. (Mother's Against Drunk Driving) will mount its biggest campaign ever. Tourism and Recreation will again run its "Take A Breath Card" program, paralleling the OPP's festive season initiative with the common objective of promoting safe, sober driving.

During the 1992/93 season initiative, the OPP checked more than 700,000 vehicles, issued more than 2,1000 12-hour licence suspensions and laid just under 900 impaired driving charges. Still, 155 people were killed.

This Schorsky S76 air ambulance made the first landing on the new heliport, last Friday, which sits behind the new fire hall. The helicopter can hold we stretchers along with three escorts. MPP Elmer Buchanan was able to help the village secure the grant for the project.

New village fire hall unveiled

by Jeff Wilson

The new Madoc Village fire hall, located on St. Lawrence Street West, was officially opened last Friday afternoon, as well as the air ambulance heliport.

A number of members of the Madoc Village Fire Department, along with village council, other local and provincial politicians, members of other area fire departments and other guests were on hand for the ribbon cutting ceremony for the new hall, as well as a landing demonstration on the new heliport.

Prior to the ribbon cutting.

Reeve Tom Deline said the idea of building a new fire hall allowed the village to "kill three birds with one stone". He said it allowed the village to built a facility to properly accommodate all the village fire department's equipment, as well as possibly accommodate an ambulance, depending on fu-ture Ministry of Health changes: An additional fifth bay was con-structed to house an ambulance if need be. The new-fire hall allows the old hall to be passed on to the public works department which needs a new facility. The new fire hall was funded through the Canada/Ontario infrastructure program which has the federal. provincial and municipal governments each paying one-third of the cost of the project.

Deline thanked Hastings-Peterborough MPP Elmer Brichanan who he said was a great help in Centre Hastings and the village. securing the grant for the heliport construction.

Buchanan, who was on hand, said he was impressed with the turnout for the grand opening and said it reflected the community's commitment. He added that a quarter of the people present attended the recent opening of a Ministry of Agriculture office in the much larger City of Guelph. Buchanan said it was easier to work on behalf of his constituents when they pull together.

Following the ribbon cutting ceremony, an air ambulance made an impressive first landing on the heliport which will service the Centre Hastings area. The heli-copter was a twin engine Schorksy S76 which has a capacity for two Continued on page 2

Children First meeting generates rich exchange of ideas

Exceptional youth video given first public showing

By Bill Freeman

Norwood - "The youth of Norwood have to have some sort of voice," says Jill Dunn a univer-sity student living in the village and one of the driving forces behind the remarkable home-grown video "Who's Going To Tell Them?"

The video, given its first public showing at a town hall meeting Wednesday, is a by-product of the Children First Project (CFP) - a three-year pilot project to pro-mote the well-being of children, youth and families by better uti-lizing resources in the county. And Wednesday's meeting was used as a forum to discuss the CFP, its history and objectives, and sound out ideas from local youth and adults alike.

The result was a rich and articulate blend of ideas -- an im-portant first step in realizing some of the goals of the unique CFP which is sponsored by the philan-thropic Laidlaw and Lawson Foundation.

The Project's purpose is to "initrate, then fagilitate, document and evaluate a process which would allow a community system for children to evolve in a neighbourhood and to connect the creativity of the neighbourhood system with the large changes that are needed at a county-wide level."

Through this process they hope to develop a county-wide community system for children.

Norwood, and the Greenhill/ Talwood neighbourhood in Peterborough, are local pilot projects and unique in that only three other projects like it are underway in Ontario. Those are in Waterloo Region, Metro Toronto and North

The meeting went "wonder-fully well," CFP co-ordinator Ruth Sanderson says. "I was really happy with some of the discus-sion. It opened up some real gates to talk." to talk

The cornerstone of the meeting was unveiling the $1200 youth video which Ms Dunn and a small team of local Norwood High students worked on over the sum-

If was a vivid, eye-opening and sharply-realized visual essay on aspects of teen life in the village. The audience responded positively to it. The video sparked discussion beyond the expectations of meeting organizers

The video artists enjoyed working on it and hope to do a follow-up in the future if they can.

When they first started the video project Ms Sanderson was re it would work or what kind of reaction it would receive

But now she is absolutely convinced video is a "reasonable and viable tool to use to document what kids are saying.

"So many pieces came together at the right time," Ms Sanderson explained.

She says fill Dunn approached her about doing something in her own community; teachers at the high school directed her to the Communications Technology class where she met the core group of students who would work on the project. Technical advice was also available through a studio in Peterborough.

"Having Jill available was in-strumental." Ms Sanderson said. "Getting the video to this stage is something to celebrate Allan Vallillee, the director of Kinark Children's Services in Peterborough and co-chair of the Children First Project, says mak ing Norwood a "great place for kids is the simplest message behind the project."

We already have a "complicated, expensive bureaucracy we all complain about," says author Gale Chislett, also part of the CFP

"There are lots of resources but they are not always affordable, accessible or available. With our help we'll provide changes in small scale and then transform them to a larger scale

"We hope to influence the pro-vincial direction," she added.

Norwood is already a "distinct community" involved in outreach pilot projects but it doesn't have a lot of services, Ms Chislett said.

Suzanne Hamilton of the Laidlaw Foundation says her group also believes there are better ways to use resources.

We have a lot of money going into them but people are not nec-essarily aware of them, Ms Ham-

We have to come up with better ways of using resources and we want to learn from com-munities themselves what kind of things need to happen."

Mr. Vallillee says there is probably $150-200 million spent in the city and county already on a range of services.

"There is a very complicated mix of services," he said. "How can we use them and promote them better?

We've really focused on problems rather than what makes kids healthy - what makes adoles-cence a richer experience."

Ms Sanderson says 29 per cent

THE INTREPID SNOW MOBILER The Real Value of Trail Permits

"The weekly newspaper lumn for snowmobilers.

(c.1994 by Craig Nicholson. All rights reserved.)

Some snowmobilers are complaining about the cont of 1995 trail permits. And $100 a piece ($80 before December 1st) does sound steep. But what's the real Essentially a permit carries three member benefits, plus an exciting added value program, called the Sled Smart Card: Benefit one is groomed trails - for 10 to 16 weeks, depending on your location and mobility. No, trails won't always be perfect, but over-all you'll still get the most consistent snowmobiling in North America.

The Ontario Federation of Snowmobile Clubs (OFSC) estimated that annual operating over-head runs to $343 for each kilometre of groomed trail. So your $100 trail permit actually repays you many times over in levered dollars spent to groom hundreds of miles of trails you ride this season. Benefit two is trail access. 286 snowmobile clubs have land use permissions allowing OFSC members to ride 35,000 kilometres of trails. Without a permit, you're not a member and may be subject to trespass charges. Moreover, trespassers may encounter legal and insurance hassles if involved in an accident, damage or injury while riding on an OFSC trail.

Besides, where else can you

Benefit three is personal safety. Stats indicate that 97% of snowmobiling fatalities occur offtrail. I wonder how many of these orsc trails are as safe as snowmobiling gets. Mostly, they are engineered, groomed, maintained, marked and patrolled for safety. So why risk riding anywhere else?

If you travel beyond your ownclub's trail system, a $100 amortized over a full season of snowmobiling is an inexpensive passport to unlimited touring anywhere, anytime. For touring snowmobilers, improvements like better linkages, mapping, signage, hospitality services and more consistent grooming is value far be-yond the price. The new TOP Trail System is an added bonus. Kilometre for kilometre, regular riders are paying pennies for great trails. Compare costs: a child's OFSC trails just to get to grandma's or to go for brunch, so the same trail benefits apply to you. Like roads, trails are for both local and long distance use.

Besides, local by-laws, safety concerns and good neighbourliness should discourage riding on private property, town streets, farmer's fields, unmarked lakes and rivers, and along roads and highways. And it's often this high risk snowmobiling by local riders that results in tragedy. You can avoid these dangers and breaking the law too, with a trail permit. The real payback comes in supporting your local club, peace of mind, pleasure, and participation in many family and social events.

Last year the OFSC added value to trail permits. In addition to an Ontario Snowmobiler subscription and the Provincial Trail Atlas--an immediate $27 payback on your permit price--you now receive the Sled Smart Card. It entitles you to savings opportuni-ties which together can recoup more than your permit cost. With this value, it's like riding all win-ter for free!

Over 400 businesses are hon-ouring the Sled Smart Card. These range from accommodations and restaurants to car rental companies and long distance carriers. In some cases, the member benefit can amount to many hundreds of dollars. Many establishments honour the Card year round, so mem-bers receive added value anytime. Even if they don't snowmobile very much. A partia partial list of participating Sled Smart companies appears on the 1995 TOP Trail Map, now available from local clubs and tourism offices. In January, each member will receive a 1995 pocket directory. Meanwhile, bright orange Sled Smart decals at establishments along the trails flag their participation. The Sled Smart Card has proven so popular that a special Landowner Sled Smart Card has been introduced so property owners can benefit,

Yes, the $100 trail permit is a good deal. Priced at $10 less than Quebec's permit, it offers considerably more value. And best of all, the price is fixed for next hill skiing or a week in the sun! But what's the value for casual, local and family riders? Unless you're prepared to snowmobile cross-country, you'll probably use

Georgena M. Crayston A resident of Campbellford for the last five years and a previous resident of Agincourt, Georgena

So as you're contemplating all that expensive hardware stored in the garage waiting for snow, plan to buy an OFSC permit for each sled that rides OFSC trails. The sooner you do, the sooner your benefits start. Until next time, happy trails and remember: Sled Smart--Ride Safe. Ride Sober.

Feeding deer against the law

In regard to your letters about "Buck/Spike*the WILD deer that roamed the back streets of Cordova Mines:

While it is regrettable that he was killed, you must realize that the deer's natural instinct for self preservation was destroyed when people started to feed him, thereby domesticating him.

Not only is this wrong, but it is also against the LAW. It is similar to feeding wild ducks and geese hence interrupting their natural migration patterns.

The bottom line is if you want a pet get a dog. Don't feed WILD animals, you are not helping them.

Martial Arts Tournament in Cloyne

On Sünday, December 7, a Snow Tiger Martial Arts Asso-ciation Tournament was held at the North Addington Education Centre in Clovne.

The tournament was sponsored by the North Addington Martial Arts Club. There were 83 competitors from 5 to 50 years of age and from white to black belt. Approximately 100 spectators were there to watch and cheer the competitors on. The competitors represented 12 clubs from Trenton, north to Bancroft, east to Cloyne and south to Tamworth.

For the white to brown belt competitors of all ages, there were two categories; kata and sparring.

Kata is a prearranged sequence of moves, demonstrating tech-niques from the particular belt ranking. The sparring used in these tournaments is non contact point sparring. There is no contact allowed between participants and the first person to score two points wins the match. The sparring is a round robin tournament, while kata is determined by the cumula-

A criticism of the video made a NDHS student was that it didn't give youth an opportunity to talk about ideas and solutions.

It seemed to place adults on one side (with their ideas) and kids on the other, he said.

drugs. Things need to be discussed "openly and honestly" without judgment. Brian Laine, co-chair of the NDHS parents association agreed with the young people.

"We have to hand the planning role over to the people it affects most," Mr. Laine.

The adults would be the "resources because we have the connections. He said there is a "solidarity and fraternity about the young people. I believe they are the best to look after themselves.

"Now we (adults) can listen to them. They didn't when L was growing up." he said. "Trust kids a little bit more." Andy Sachse said. "We trust them

We have to talk to our kids, one mother agreed but added that it was a "two-way street. Kids also have to talk to their parents if they want to earn respect.

"If kids feel they have something valid, valuable and useful to do look at the response," Norwood Public School principal Geoff Dudding said after watching the video. "It gives a pretty good idea of some of the issues young people are wrestling with. It is good material."

"There is really rich material here in terms of what people are saying," Mr. Vallillee said. "If Norwood can do something there is no reason to believe it won't work in Millbrook or Lakefield.

"This is the most exciting community meeting I've been to," Ms Hamilton added afterwards.

There were good responses and there was cynicism, too," Ms Sanderson said, "It is really good they're saying these things. There are adults who want to work with them.

"Finding a structure where kids can have a voice -- a youth voice in planning for the community" is one of the next steps, she added.

Centra Gas holds official flame lighting ceremony

Centra Gas held an official flame lighting ceremony at the Madoc arena, last Monday to recognize the presence of natural gas in the Madoc area.

A number of officials from Centra Gas, along with local politicians and representatives from IKO Industries were on hand for the ceremony

In a speech prior to the flame lighting, Paul Pastirik, Centra Gas Eastern General Manager told the audience the response to natural gas in the Madoc area has been "overwhelming". The company's projections had been to sign up 180 customers in 1994. Currently, 230 customers have signed up to receive natural gas service.

Pastirik stated he wanted to thank all three levels of government (municipal, provincial and federal), as well as IKO Industries, who made natural gas service to the area possible. The three levels of government kicked in $800,000 and IKO Industries lo cated in Madoc Township needed natural gas for their shingle pro duction process.

Pastirik also touched on the possibility of extending 'natural gas service to Marmora and Tweed in 1995 or 1996.

Madoc Village Reeve Tom Deline, who officially lit the flame, thanked representatives from Madoc Township as well as Huntingdon Township and Rawdon Township for their hard work in bringing natural gas serv-ice to the area. He also thanked IKO Industries, which he described as "goodcommunity com-pany". Deline also credited the North Hastings Community Fu-tures, Program which helped secure the provincial grant for the project:

Also during the flame lighting ceremony, Centra Gas presented an award to a Marmora girl, whose entry in a Christmas card design competition was chosen the win-ner, Nikki Forbes, a Grade 5 stu-dent at Marmora Senior School was presented a plaque and the school was presented with a $1,000 cheque, which will go towards the purchase of a new com-

Council lifts holding zone on Madoc Hotel

by Jeff Wilson

Madoc Village Council voted to lift the holding zone on the Madoc Hotel, after reviewing comments from their consultants.

In letter to council dated Dec. 15, consultants Totten, Sims, Hubicki stated that all items of concern, except a few details, had been addressed in revisions made on March 28, Dec. 7 and Dec. 12.

Some of the items which the consultants felt needed some clarification were:

* the ramp proposed for barrier free access shall be designed in conformance with Ontario Building Code.

minimum required room and space dimensions are to be as per Ontario Building Code.

confirmation of acceptance of the proposed fire access route by the local Fire Department is

* shaft in apartments 6 and 13 to be finished with 15.9 mm Type

X gypsum wallboard on interior and exterior faces of shaft wall.

the holding zone removed, the owner can now seek a building permit, and may need to apartment size of six of the units. Reeve Tom Deline said for a minor variance to be granted the apartments will have to, at least meet the Ontario Building Code

Fire fighters given their green lights

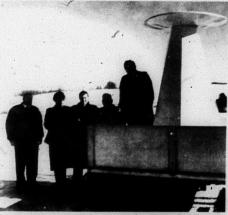

Ontario's volunteer fire fighters now have the right to use flashris now have the right to use Hash-ing green lights on their way to a fire. The right "to go green" was given a private member's bill, which was passed on the last day of the session at Queen's Park

As Rural Affairs Minister I saw this bill as very good for rural Ontario and its volunteer fire fight-'MPP Elmer Buchanan said. "Rural Ontario has been asking for this for years."

..The bill has come to the House before and each time it died on the order paper. I kept lobbying to get the bill passed,"

Buchanan said. "Fire chiefs I've talked to since then are excited about getting permission to use the flashing green light on the way to a fire."

The bill to amend the Highway Traffic Act respecting fire fighters was introduced by Ted Arnott, MPP Wellington.

Centra Gas held a flame lighting ceremony on Dec. 12 at the Madoc arena to officially recognize natural gas service coming to the Madoc area On hand for the ceremony were: (l-r) Madoc Township Reeve Gerald Reid. Rawdon Township Deputy-Reeve Brenda Perrault, Centra Gas Eastern General Manager Paul Pastirik and Madoc Village Reeve Tom Deline.

One Yoggy, Christmas day drug store was robbed and the police were running from door to door taking people to the police station, for finger print checks. But no ones matched. The kind of looked like animals. But if you want to get technical - deer prints Who would imagine an animal robbing a drug store

So they went and took every one of Santa's reindeer to the police station and Rudolph's paws matched. Santa ripped up one side of Rudolph and down the other because he was very very angry Santa said, "I needed a new light for my nose." So they came and took Rudolph to jail but they gave him parole for Christmas and they lived happily ever after. Rudolph had learned his lesson. The End

The Christmas Foal

One shivery night a girl named Heather was helping her father put the horses in the new barn for the winter. It was December 20th. 1993. Heather lived at her father and mother's farm. They bred horses and boarded them. Heather was horse crazy! She had loved horses since she was three years old Heather is now nine-years-old. She desperately wanted a foal of her own. After she was finished helping her father she went to her favorite horses stall. The horse's name was Starlight. She was a gorgeous thoroughbred. She was a dive-year-old mare. Finally it was Christmas Eve and Heather was anxious to see what she would get. That night Heather dreamed.

about riding her own palomino and riding it in the Breeders Cup. It would be a champion. By the time she woke up it was time to open up her presents. Then heather eard an unfamiliar whinny. She ran down stairs and slashed out the door towards the barn. Heather ran in the door and saw a palomino foal with a big ribbon on it that said. To heather from the family. She hugged the pony. A few years later Heather was standing in the winner's circle of the Breeder's Cup with her beloved had his Christmas tree up. He w so excited he jumped for joy and he went to bed. Then he heard something on the roof and he sat up in his bed and shouted, ""Santa is on the roof." He got up and got a drink of water and then he headed back to his room. He got back in his bed and tried to fall asleep. He was excited and could not wait until morning. When the morning came he got up and went to the kitchen to have breakfast. Then after his toast and cereal he ran to the Christmas tree. He saw all the presents under the beautiful tree. One freezing, snowy wintery night. Meagen, Marli, Tyler, Dad and Mom were all decorating the Christmas tree with coloured lights, coloured balls, tinsel, gar-land, angel hair, icicles and an angel forthe top of the Christmas tree. The lights were all-a-glow. Many big, tall, small, short, thin, and fat presents were piled high under the tree. It was Christmas Eve. Marli and Meagen slept on the floor in front of the fireplace which had a nice hot fire burning. It was dark and they were just falling asleep when they heard a thud, thud. They thought it was Santa, but it was only their little brother Tyler falling out of his bed. After they had just started a relaxing night's sleep, there was a scream and a thud. They got up in a flash! They gasped at the man who was standing in front of the firmlace! Means were all surwho was standing in from of the fireplace! Meagen gasped. Santa was standing there rubbing his rear end and saying ""Ouch!" ""What's the matter?" Maegen asked him in shock. Marli stared at him breathlessly. ""I fell into the fireplace while the fire was burning, I screamed because I burnt my rear-end and it put a hole in my red/suit. Mrs. Claus just in hy redysuit. The Boy Who Saw Santa Claus

Once upon a time at eight o'clock in the morning, their first snowflake dropped slowly to the ground. When I saw it, I scurried to the window and made my first wish. I wished I could see Santa Claus tomorrow.

,"Well I better go to bed so I'll see Santa Claus quicker", I said to myself. The clock struck five o'clock and my mom said, "It's supper time!" I loved supper time. so I scurried to the supper table. After supper I went upstairs and into my bedroom. After a couple of minutes I decided to go to bed because I could see Santa Claus quicker. The clock struck twelve o'clock and I was still up, and all of a sudden I heard bells ringing on top of the roof, then footsteps going down the chimney. I ran as fast as I could and jumped on the chair and I was glad the fire was out. Then I saw somebody's red feet, "I know who's feet they are" "They are Santa Claus' feet, he must be stuck in the chimney." I went into the kitchen and got salt and pepper, then I ran into the living room. I threw the salt up the chimney, but it didn't work, but when I threw the pepper up the chimney it made Santa sneeze and he fell down the chimney. After Santa Claus got out he said, "You are a nice kid, so I'm going to give you extra presents tonight."

The Snow Story

Jonathan, an 8-year-old boy lived in a big house in the câty. After school one snowy day Jonathan asked his mother to pet up the tree. "Sure", she said. "I am not putting it up you ean." "I can! yes." Jonathan put the tree. One night Santa came down the chimney, he filled the whole tree with presents. He left. The next day John got up. "Yeah", said John. He was happy and opened the presents that day.

Midnight The Pony

A haby pony was walking downthe gravel country road that led to a stream. He was a stray pony who could not find his way home. He was drinking out of a big river that came from a stream. Then he came to a farm. The farmer was really nice. He treats animals absolutely perfect. He went to the gate and stood there all day and night. The next morning when the farmer came out to see his cattle, he saw a dark brown and white pony. He liked baby ponies better than bigger ones. He went over to the pony and opened the big red gate. The pony almost never slept. He went in the gate and looked all around him then started to sniff the farmer. The farmer's name is Mr.JK. Mr. JK hugged the pony and named the pony Midnight. He put him in with the horses. In ten more days it was Christmas Pay Mr. JK had a bridle and a lungline for Midnight's presents. The next day was the sixteenth of December. Katie the farmer's girl likes them even more. The farmer gave Katie the pony. One day the horses got out of their stalls, but Midnight was smart. He could get out but he didn't. When Mr. JK came out he saw that the horses were out. He tooked around. Atfirist he thought Midnight ran away. Then he looked in the barn. "Good boy", he said. As soon as he saw the pony in his stall, Midnight stared at him.

Santa's New Elf

Way up on the top of a steep cliff, Evil Ed was brooding. Year after year he was jealous that all the kids loved Santa Claus. "It's not too hard to throw a few gifts down a chimney," said Evil Ed. Meanwhile in the town, Santa was delivering his gifts." Let's see, I've got Bill, Karen, Stu, Ester, Lany and Lou," he said, checkmg his list. "Oh no! I am missing Mona and Mike." "Mona and Mike!" said Rudolph. "They live on the other side of the Ocean.

Evil Ed turned from his crystal ball." Mona and Mike," said Evil Ed. "They are my fish bait. I will make a storm to trap Santa. Next I will capture Santa and then I will pretend to be Santa and all of the children will like me.

Evil Ed called on Snagly his helper. Snagly got read and they set off. When they caught up to Santa, Evil Ed recited a spell and a blustery storm blew quickly into Santa's Sleigh; when Santa said, "STOP! Have you forgotten the real meaning of Christmas? Christmas is a time to show how much you care about other people. Giving a gift isn't what makes you loved. Really, it's the thought that counts and the thought is what makes you loved." All of a sud-den Evil Ed had a thought, a good thought. He thought he would want to be Santa was overjoyed. From now on Evil Ed was known as Ed the Elf and they delivered the last gifts together.

Santa went all around the whole world delivering gifts. Finally he was back home. "You made it. was back nonic. Tou made it. How was the stallion. Was it bumpy? said Mrs. Claus. "Oh no not at all. That stallion was per-fect," said Santa. "Well if it is so perfect, why don't you keep him, said Mrs. Claus. "Let's go out and see him and the reindeer. The reindeer and the stallion were getting along just fine. What should we name him? "Well said Mrs. Claus, "why don't we call him Rudolph." Santa said, "Why don't we celebrate?" They celebrated that night and the stallion ebrated that night and the stallion lived with them and Santa put the new Rudolph at the head of the team from that Christmas on. So watch for the stallion this Christ-

There once was a woodsman. He was very poor. One day he went out on the side of the lake to cut down trees, for he thought with my axe I can earn enough to buy bread for all my children. Then crash! down came a tree. He had struck it so hard, his axe head flew off and sank into the lake. In great distress he cried, "Now how can I get my children what they need?"

Then out of the lake a beautiful

Then down she went. She then came up with his own axe. "Is this your axe?"

'Yes!" he said So she gave him his axe, and said, "Since you would not take that was not your own you shall have all three for your loved ones at home.

So when he went home that evening he gave them just not only bread. But little cakes and toys and said, "These I can give you just because I told the truth '

The Christmas Kitten

One day I was thinking what I wanted for Christmas. Just then my mom walked in time to go to school.

At school my friend Marlee asked me what I want for Christmas-I said I didn't know. When I got home I started thinking again.

One day on Christmas Eve. Charles and Jennifer were washing the dishes for their mother. All of the sudden Charles splashed water over Jennifer and then Jennifer went second told. Charles got in a lot of trouble. When it was time for bed Charles didn't want to go to bed so he ran around the house. When their mother finally caught him she put him to bed but he didn't go to sleep. When their mother was gone he got out of bed and started jumping on the bed. When his mother found him jumping on the bed she took him into the living room and told him that if he's not good Santa won't bring him a present. Well Charles didn't believe his mother so he drank right out of the milk pitcher. His mother sent him back to bed and waited for him to go to sleep.
Jennifer was already sleeping in her bed so she left because both of the kids were in bed sleeping.

In the morning Jennifer and Charles ran to the tree to look for their presents. When Charles didn't find any presents for him, he asked his mother, "Why don't I get any presents?" His mother told him he was a baby boy this way and his him to the told him he was a baby boy this way and his him. year so he didn't get any presents. Then Charles promised he would never be bad again.

It was a quiet Christmas morning, Jennifer, Chris, and I were opening up our presents when we heard something in the chimney we went to look and to our surprise it was Santa we tried to pull and pull, but we just couldn't get him out. We phoned the neigh-bour Amanda to ask if she knew what to do. She said to jump on him, and push him out. So I decided to jump first but he didn't budge. Jennifer jumped next he didn't budge again so Chris jumped and he moved a bit but we were still stuck.

We were all crammed up in a tiny chimney. So we call for Leusifer our cat to jump cause she was real big and fat so finally she carrie on the roof and jumped, then we all came out with a loud, Thump! After that we asked Santa to stay for milk and cookies and he did so we got a lot of extra presents. They only problem left was we couldn't find the reindeer.

After the reindeer got fed, they Christine McLean, Gentra Gas Public Relations said this in the second year the company has held the competition. The company decided to run the competition in the Madoc area because it was a new service area for the Centra, she said. Grade 5 students from four area schools were asked to submit entries. Over 150 drawings were received. The Belleville office narrowed the choice to four, one from each school, and head office in North York made the final decision, McLean said.

Remember last winter? Temperatures plummeted and many snowmobilers stayed home. Hardier souls braved frozen fingers and toes to hit the trails.

Not me. I snowmobiled almost 10,000 kilometres from the hills of New Brunswick to the mountains of Montana in toasty comfort. Even one morning when the mercury froze at -55 degrees Celsius with a wind chill factor of almost -80! My secrets for warm hands and feet? Read on.

These extremities are the furthest from your heart, so circulation is less effective and body heat more limited. Depending on your metabolism, they may require special protection against the cold. Winter warmth has two guiding principles: keeping dry and retaining lead/So when shopping for mitts and boots, your best is removable layers. Why? Because each layer traps air that your body has worked hard to heat, recycling it for additional warmth. Layers can also be removed for thorough overnight drying and/or replacement when wet. But loose is critical: be certain to buy a size or two larger than normal for maximum benefit. There's nothing more likely to freeze your fingers and toes than tight coverings. So proper fitting is essential for comfort.

Other tips: Buy a second set of liners and alternate them daily so each set has a chance to thoroughly dry and recover fully. Try fluffing them in the dryer to restore their air retention proper-

Snowmobilers are most familiar with layering through the ubiq-uitous felt liner in footwear. It traps warm air but can become damp when natural foot perspiration has nowhere to go. Recently, several boot manufacturers have overcome this deficiency by devising systems to take moisture one is an inner sole of dense foam or plastic that fits under the liner, creating a warm air circula-tion platform between foot and sole. I tested two makes last win-ter that were rated down to -85 degrees Celsius and was rewarded with warm feet all winter. Their liner approaches were different.

The "Control" boot from Altmann Industries (416/248-2292) replaced felt with a new high tech, almost sponge-like material. This liner has an aluminized outer surface that reflects body heat back onto the foot. The boot is light weight and water proof. A padded tongue keeps snow from sneaking in around the laces. My only reservation was a feeling that the comfy liner packed down with constant use -easily remedied by alternating a second liner.
Sorel's "Bigfoot" (available in retail outlets across Ontario) has double felt liners - the inner stays dry by transferring moisture to the outer sheath. In addition, this boot has two inner soles and an extra thick, insulated body which puts more distance and protection between your feet and the snow. But beware. The boot is so thick measuring almost six inches from sole to the top of your foot - that it wouldn't fit into the foot rest of my Ski-Doo Grand Touring, so check the spacing on your own

It struck me that cold fingers should receive similar treatment. By inference, that means mitts, not gloves. Fingers warm faster and longer if they're in contact with each other, same as toes. Also, gloves tend to fit tighter and that means less warm air circulation and trapping. But my goal was to find hand coverings that replicated the boot liner concept. My search ended with a Bombardier mitt called "Haliburton" Full outer leathers surround soft, removable liners that velcro securely into place. Lots of trapped warm air and superior circulation ensured even warmthrottle thumb. On deep free days I had room for a second, smaller inner liner and for spring snowmobiling, I wore the mitts with no liners. Great flexibility and warm hands too. Dries overnight the same as my boot components.

For those with particularly sensitive digits, I'd also recommend electric hand and thumb warmers, supplemented on cold days by a pair of handle bar muffs to cut the wind chill. In fact, my wife rides most of the winter with only a pair of thin glove liners, heated grips and muffs.

Sono more complaining about cold hands and feet, eh? Until next time, happy trails and remember: Sled Smart-Ride Safe, Ride Sober. For informati snowmobiling, Snowaramas and clubs, contact the Ontario Federation of Snowmobile Clubs (OFSC) at 705/739-7669. To plan your On-tario tour, call I-800-236 SLED.

Christmas Parade

One snowy day in November a little girl name Stephanie was playing outside. Her dad was sitting in his favourite lazy boy chair reading the newspaper.

When Stephanie's dad was reading the newspaper, he found out that there was a parade coming to town.

"Stephanie, quick, come here and see this!" yelled her father. "What, what is it dad?"

swered Stephanie.

Stephanie went over to the door where her father was standing. "It says here that the Christmas Parade is coming to town on the 26th of November

'Oh, can we go to it, please?" asked Stephanie

"If you tidy that room of yours then you can go.

So Stephanie marched right upstairs as fast as she could to tidy her room. When she was done she ran downstairs to tell her father.
Daddy, daddy, I tidied my oom. There's not a single toy on the floor," Stephanie said.

"I have to check," exclaimed her father. Stephanie led her fa-ther upstairs to check, "Yes, youcan go because your room is tidy,' said her father.

'Oh daddy, you're the best dad in the whole wide world."

Several days passed and it was getting closer to the Christmas Parade day. Stephanie was get-ting more excited as the days passed.

Finally it was the day of the Christmas parade. In the morning Stephanic quickly dressed, ate breakfast and got her snowsuit, mitts, hat and scarf. "Okay, daddy, I'm ready to go to the Christmas

When they got there it had already started. So they quickly found a spot to watch.

Stephanic thought it was fun and the floats were beautiful. After the parade Stephanie and her father went home and had hot went home and had hot chocolate and had a good day.

A Memorable Christmas

It was Christmas eve and I was so excited that I could not get to sleep. I was just about to dose off when I heard a noise on the roof.

I ran to the window and looked out. I did not see anything, only darkness. I had heard something so I went downstairs to check it

When I got downstairs I sat on the couch. It was not long before I saw a flash of bright light, Santa Claus appeared. I was so excited.

I went over to Santa and tapped him on his shoulder. He turned around, "There are some cookies and milk on the table," I told him. Thank you," he replied.

Shouldn't you be in bed? I watched Santa put all the presents under the tree. Then we both sat down to eat cookies and drink our milk

Santa said that he had to go. I didn't want him to go but who wouldn't? I asked him if he could stay a little longer.

After Santa left I went back to bed. The morning came quickly, I went into my Mom's bedroom. I told her about what had happened the night before. She said that she believed me. I wasn't sure that she really did believe me. She had a puzzled look on her face. Then, we went downstairs and opened our presents. This Christmas was extra special for me.

Best Wishes for the Holiday Season! From all of us to all of our valued friends and clients by Alfred Von Mirbach Waste Reduction Coordinator

This is the time of year that the market place goes nuts. All kinds of rubbish finds its way onto the shelves of our stores, much of it severely overpackaged and of limited real value.

The message pumped out by the endless flyers and television ads is "If you don't consume at ads is "If you con consume at Christmas, there's something wrong with you." Garbage! How many more mays will be dumped upon children? How many more unsolicited and frankly unwanted gifts will be foisted upon mothers and fathers? How many trees will be chopped down so that we can send Christmas cards to people we see every day? What kind of pollutants are discharged into rivers so that we can have fancy wrapping papers with Happy Christmas on it? How much food is wasted?

It's scary when you think about it. You have to work really hard during the festive season to not abuse the environment.

There's all this social pressure to spend lots of money on flashy, overwrapped gifts, extravagant parties, long Christmas card lists, excessive Christmas light displays, and everything else that goes with the consumer society Christmas

It's like we try to show how much we care by how much we spend, when much of what we spend is in one form or another. waste.

If we really want to show we care, doesn't it make more sense to do things that aren't wasteful? A gift of a cleaner environment is something we can all enjoy. But what can one person do that makes a difference, and that people won't just see as being cheap?

To start with, let's look at some basic common sense ideas for Christmas morning.

Instead of ripping the wrap-ping paper to shred in your haste to remove it, take the tape off carefully, fold it up, and use it for presents next year. Don't worry about people thinking you are being cheap, times are changing it's now cool to feuse

When you are sitting down to wrap gifts, use some creativity to comeup with interesting gift wrap alternatives, like coloured comics, a silk scarf or a reusable gift bag.

If you really want to show you make a gift? If you care, why not make a gift? If you aren't an arts and crafts kind of person, or you ran out of time, give a voucher promising some-thing, like a gourmet candle-light dinner, tickets to a special event, or even something as simple as lawn mowing, baby sitting, wall papering or a monthly massage. That is sure to be more appreciated than that desperation, "I'm sure she doesn't have this" gift.

Another idea is the "adopt an acre of rain forest" programs, run by organizations such as the Canadian Wildlife Fund and the nadran Wildine Pund and the Nature Conservancy. If that seems too remote, why not bring it closer to home and participate in the "Adopt An Acre" campagn of the Quinte Conservation Alliance?

For a small donation, they will send you one or more Christmas cards which let the person you are sending it to know that you have made a donation to help preserve local conservation lands. For more information on the program call 1-613-968-3434.

This same sort of environmentally-friendly thinking can carry over into the other aspects of this festive season.

Don't try to outdo the Jones with more Christmas lights --Christmas isn't about oneupmanship. A simple strand of lights in a tree or bush, or even a candle in a window, is a very effective and tasteful way of showing you are celebrating

If you are having an office party, why not rent reusable dishware this year, and instead of picking names out of a hat and buying useless joke gifts, throw that money into a hat and sponsor a child through Foster Parents Plan. That's something you will all feel good about for a long time. instead of just getting one not-so-cheap laugh out of it.

All it takes is a little imagination to be environmentally friendly this Christmas

Best About Christmas

The best thing about Christmas is giving and receiving gifts, seeing all the trees and houses lit up, seeing all of my family, especially my Grandma Fisher.

She gives me really nice gifts. I also like Christmas because of the holidays, because you can go snowmobiling, sliding, skiing and skating and lots of other things. I also like sitting in front of the fire at might. I like to decorate the Christmas tree, Also put up the Christmas lights.

I like playing hockey in the driveway. I like helping my mom bake cookies, especially short bereads because I can eat them. Wrapping and unwrapping gifts is fun. And before we open gifts

Christmas Is Fun

Un the stairs I slowly climb Listening to the clock chime. Old St, Nick's coming tonight, His happy face so full and bright.
I climb into my comfy bed

And rest my very tired head. Hours pass one by one, When morning comes I'll sure

I woke up with a sudden start. And out my window saw a cart Decorated in red and white I slowly watched it taking flight And then I saw it was so clear Old St. Nick and his reindeer I ran down the stair as fast as I could

And under the tree stood Presents, presents, thin and fat, I opened one it was a hat. Christmas Day is so much fun. I could not live without one.

Rachelle Courtney, Grade 7, Hillcrest.

It was the 24th of December, I was sitting on our sofa waiting for the commercial to end when I heard singing. I hopped off the couch and ran to the window Outside the street was hare

As I looked at the thermometer on the window sill, I saw that it was below the freezing mark. I was really disappointed because it hadn't snowed yet and there was only one more night until Christmas. My eyes hastily scanned the street to find out where the singing was coming from.
When I found nothing I went back to the sofa and waited for the next show to start.

Boy, I thought to myself, how many times have I heard that one? Finally, the show started and I forgot about the singing. After a couple of hours of watching TV I decided to get a snack. As I walked to the frig, I heard voices singing:

Clory To The Newborn King

Oh come let us adore him, Oh come let us adore him, Oh come let us adore him, Christ the Lord.

It sounded like a choir of angels. Their voices blended together perfectly. Histened as they sang "Away in a Manger." I found myself drawn toward the sound.

Then I heard them singing, 'I'm Dreaming of a White Christmas." I know what you mean, I said to myself. Then it happenedthe louder they sang, the colder it got. They sang and they sang some more. I looked up and at that very moment, the sky opened up and our poured--SNOW.

It was really snow! I ran out the door to thank the carollers for bringing the snow that I had wanted for so long. I looked up and down the street, the carollers were nowhere to be seen.

Every Christmas if you try hard enough you can hear the carollers singing. Where they go, no one knows; but every Christmas they return in hope of finding you.

ids At Christmas

One day Mary was walking to Joseph's work. Then a man came to Joseph and said "You must go" to Bethlehem and pay our taxes So Joseph had to go and he took Mary with him.

Joseph and Mary walked along the way to Bethlehem and finally the way to Bethlenem and finally they reached the town. While they were there they had a baby. They had no place to go because all the houses were full. The old stable was left and they went there. The animals were friendly.

While they were in the stable they named their new baby, Jesus. The angels told Mary and Joseph to name the baby Jesus and so they did.

God the father told the Baby Jesus when he got older he would have to die on the cross to show he loved the people in our world. At first it might be a little scary, "but remember I love you," his father told him.

Emilie Charbonnau, St. Mary's School.

The Night I Met Santa

Once upon a time there was a boy named Matt. It was almost Christmas. He was wrapping presents until 9 p.m. and his bed time was 10 p.m. He is 15 and gets to stay up until that time to wrap his presents.

He got one for his Mom and Dad and his little sister and even his teacher. Then he kissed his Mom and Dad and went to bed. He kept thinking about Christ-mas. He got to sleep. In the morning he put on his snow pants and mittens, boots, scarf, coat and hat. It was 9:30 and his bed time was 10. He went inside and took off his clothes and went to bed

In the middle of the night Santa Claus came. He woke up and went downstairs and there was Santa. He wanted to talk with him, so he did. They talked for an hour. And then he went back to bed.

Katelyn Hornsby, St. Mary's School.

James' Christmas Story

Once there was a house with lots of children and they were waiting for Christmas. They were putting their stockings up and putting gifts under the Christmas tree. They had one more day until Christmas eve.

They went to bed and Santa Claus came that night. They got up the next morning to open their presents. Their Mom and Dad got up to open their presents, too. The whole family was happy. They went outside to enjoy the snow. Then their Dad came in when he saw that the little girl was looking out the window. He said: "What are you doing?"

"I wish I had seen Santa," she replied.

James Gushue. St. Mary's School.

True Meaning of Christmas

Once there was a girl named Mary. One night an angel named Mary. One night an angel named Cabriel said: "God has chosen you for the son of God." Then Gabriel visited Joseph. He is the person Mary wanted to marry and said "you will marry Mary. She will have a baby and will name him Jesus."

One day a messenger said eve-one must go back to wherever y were born. Mary and Joseph had to go to Bethlehem. When they got there it was dark and all the inns were full. Then the innkeeper said they could stay in the stable. That night Baby Jesus was born. In the nearby field some shepherds were watching their sheep.

They saw an angel and she said "don't be afraid for I bring you good news. A saviour was born. He will be wrapped in a blanket. The shepherds decided togoto

Bethlehem. It took a long time but they did finally get there. They gave Baby Jesus gold, myrrh and frankincense. That's why we celebrate Christmas.

The Night I Became Santa

The stockings were hung, the tree was decorated. I thought it was going to be a normal Christ-mas eve. Then the strangest thing happened. I looked out our front window. I saw an old man walking up our neighbour's sidewalk. All of a sudden he slipped on a patch of ice.

I ran down to see if he was alright but he had a big goose egg on his head. I told-him to lie still while I got some ice for him. He told me that he had more reindeer than he started out with. I said: You must be seeing double.

I helped the elderly man up to my house and put him on the couch. Then i got some rope, my GT snowracer, sticks for antlers. I cálled by dog Whisky and said: You're going to be my reindeer! Then I realized who the man was. It was Santa. Santa drew me a map to help me find my way

Before long I had all the presents delivered. When I got back the next morning, Santa was feeling much better. He climbed into his sleigh and said; "I will be sure to bring you and Whisky something special next year."

The True Meaning

I woke up on Christmas morning and there were five presents. I asked my Mom what was going on. She told me all about Christmas. One thing she told me was that Christmas isn't all about presents. It's about the birth of Jesus Christ.

Christmas Time

Once upon a time there was a jolly old man called Santa Claus. He was sick and couldn't make the Christmas trip. His reindeer couldn't fly. Soeverybody missed Christmas. It was sad because Christmas was gone. Everybody was asleep but

Santa was still awake. A fairy came to Santa and gave him some food to feed the reindeer. Then he helped Santa get better, After that Santa went to get his sleigh and set off to give out all the presents before returning to an empty

Christmas and New Year

Christmas is my favourite time of year. It is a time to spend with family, friends and people you love. It is a time for giving and sharing and that is what it's all about. Well almost anyway. It was also the day that Christ was born. It is a very special day.
I also like Christmas because every year our family/gets to-gether to celebrate. It is a lot of fun and sometimes we even go sledding or skiing. Our family always put together a big meal. It is really good.

There is turkey, stuffing, mashed potatoes, vegetables and gravy. You wouldn't believe how uch food there is. It's great, we always have Christmas at my Grandma's house but we are running out of places to put every thing and everyone.

Another celebration I enjoy is New Year. Well usually anyway but sometimes everyone will go out to celebrate and leave me home by myself. What fun! I guess it isn't all that bad. Usually I can find something to do.

Well Christmas and New Year are my favourite, times of year. I even get time off school.

Carri Nelson, Hillcrest School.

Best Thing About Christmas

The best thing about Christ-mas is being with all my family. On Christmas eve we'll pack all our gifts in the van and head for grandma and grandpa's place. By 8 p.m. grandma's kitchen is full of family--17 in all.

The table will be covered with snacks to nibble on and punch to drink, when we can not stand it any longer Grandpa says we can any longer Grandpa says we can go the tree. We open presents one at a time. The only presents opened are the ones Aunt Gail's family has for us and the ones we have for them. By midnight the party is over and Aunt Gail's family goes home.

Grandma, grandpa, Aunt Kathy, Uncle Terry, Julie, Moni, Jeff, Aunt Frances and myself sleep over night. When Julie, Jeff and I go to bed there are no presents under the tree. In the morning it's magic. LOTS OF PRESENTS!

Santa's Special Christmas

One bright sunny morning in the cold North Pole, Santa Claus went to get supplies. He went to make some toy trains for the little boys. Someday these little boys would love to be a conductor on a real train.

When Santa Claus walked into the store he saw a strange animal that was all different colours, any colour you could imagine, like a rainbow. It was taking all the toys that all the children in the world would enjoy. Santa walked up to the strange creature and asked: What is your name?

The strange thing replied, "My name is Minerva.

Then Santa asked "what are you doing?

Minerva said: "I hate Christmas and I'm taking all the toys so that children won't have run I love being evil and hate good people!

Santa said: "I love to see little children happy." Santa used his magic gloves to put all the toys back on the shelf. Later that night Santa was sitting in his living room eating Santa fries and thinking of the pleasure the little children would have with the toys he would be giving out tomorrow night.

Meanwhile, Minerva had to clean up the workshop as punish-ment. He had to wash the windows, sweep the floor, clear off the tables for the elves to work on, wrap the gifts and worst of all Minerva had to write ""Love you

After he had done that for a nfonth. Santa made him promise never to do anything like that again. If Santa caught him doing something bad he would repeat the punishment for two months plus wash all the elves clothes and Well, if you ever saw the look on Minerya's face you wouldn't even have to worry about him ever doing it again for the rest of his life. After that incident everybody lives happily eyer after.

To hold resident hunter training examinations in Cobourg, Lindsay

Anyone hunting in Ontario must hold a valid hunting licence from the Ministry of Natural Resources. It means that first-time applicants, and anyone who has not held an Ontario resident licence since Jan. 1, 1968, must pass an examination, consisting of written and practical tests.

A pre-requisite for writing the exam is the successful completion of Ontario's Hunter Safety Training Course. People who hold a valid licence from a jurisdiction outside Ontario or residents who hold a Hunter Training Course Certificate may attempt the hunting licence exam. Applicants who fail the exam must take the training course before a problem.

ing course before re-applying.

Candidates must be 16 years of age to apply for their licence or take the examination. Residents who are 15 years old may apply provided they have written consent from both parents or a legal guardian.

The required training courses and examinations have produced more skilled, knowledgeable and responsible hunters. Since the program became mandatory for first-time hunters, hunting accidents in Ontario have declined considerably.

Local MNR area and district offices provide information on courses by certified instructors.

Each course offers at least 15 hours of instruction in hunting ethics, firearms safety, bow hunting, survival, wildlife identification, wildlife management and first aid.

When the course is complete, instructors provide students with hunting licence examination applications which have been signed to verify the applicant's attendance. Hunting licence exams are conducted by MNR staff. The current exam fee is $9.25 and candidates may apply at any MNR area or district office.

It is recommended that if you are planning on hunting this fall, the best time to register for a course and subsequent, examination is now when space is available. The first two tests will be conducted Jan. 12th in Lindsay and Jan. 19th in Cobourg.

Village receives some credit for blue boxes returning to post offices

by Jeff Wilson

Madoc Village received some of the credit for the return of blue boxes into the lobbies of Canada post offices

According to a press release from the Centre and South Hast-ings Recycling Board the blue boxes were returned to local post office lobbies as of Nov. 28

The press release also stated that pressure from advertisers was the reason given by Canada Post for the withdrawal of recycling

The credit for the reintroduction of blue boxes was given to John Hanson of the Recycling Council of Ontario for his assistance in having the recycling board's concerns made known to senior Canada Post officials.

Frankford Village sent a letter of congratulations to the village for its stand and ultimate succes on the issue. It also stated Frankford "heartily" supported the village's efforts.

Province grants $94,000 for model support services in Hastings County

Children with special needs and their families throughout Hastnty will benefit from the amalgamation of four support ervices, thanks to a $94,000 grant from the Ministry of Community and Social Services. The funding will support the four agencies with special needs and their families in Hastings County.
MCSS Minister Tony Silipo

made the announcement Dec. adding that the project will-be known as the Hastings Resource Teacher Program.

In making the announcement, Mr. Silipo said that the agencies will work together to develop a single-access service delivery agency that will serve a greater number of families in Hastings County

The consolidation of the four existing programs is expected to achieve better service co-ordina tion by ensuring that a system of supports to children with special ds and their families is in place in Hastings County," the minister explained. "This will result in a more cost-efficient system of service along with a significant increase in the number of children supported in child care programs, as staff move from a support role in program delivery, to one of consulting with program staff in all child care programs."

The key benefit for the children will be their inclusion in mainstream neighborhood child care programs. For parents, there will be easier access to programs through a single access point, county, and services which support racial, ethnic, cultural, and socio-economic diversity. The model focuses on a family-centred approach to service delivery that enhances the empowerment and enabling capacity

The agencies involved in the program are the Children's NursBelleville and District Children Services Committee, North Hastings Children's Services in Bancroft and the Trenton and District Association for Commu-

Funding for this project is from the ministry's $6.8 million Community Innovation Fund, estab-lished to provide support to groups of community agencies who are testing innovative approaches to restructure social services to make services more effective and efficient. The fund has already provided support to a number of similar projects across the province.

"The ministry and all social service providers must meet the needs of people in the best way possible, "Silipe said, "Inorder to maintain or improve existing services and build new ones, we have to restructure. We have to find new ways of serving the people of

OPP gets early visit from Santa

Brett Funeral Chapels donate hand-held radar to monitor area speeders

By Rolly Ethier

After a six-month/delay, the electronic device has finally arrived in our area ready to strike when speeding motorists least expect.

The much-discussed hand-held radar gun, identified as a need to monitor speeders in the area by the Campbellford detachment of the OPP in the spring, arrived last week as an early Christmas package. Glenn and Betty Brett of the Brett Funeral Chapels of Havelock and Hastings played the Santa Claus role.

Claus role. Staff Sgt. Ernie Bond of the Campbellford OPP detachment had earlier sought the co-operation of the councils of Campbellford and Seymour Township for the Township to fund the purchase of the $5,000 radar device. Howwasn't a priority in these days of tight monetary restrictions.

When learning of the need for the speed monitoring gun, the Bretts came to the rescue. They supplied the necessary funds to purchase the device as a tangible way of giving something back to he communities that have supported them for the past 25 years.

"The detachment is extremely grateful for this generous dona-ion," noted Staff Sgt. Bond. "It will be a very useful addition in assisting officers to discourage speeding vehicles and prevent the needless loss of lives or serious injuries on our highways

Brett Funeral Chapels was es-tablished in 1969 and as a tribute to the many hundreds of families served during that quarter of a century the firm thought it was appropriate to support the OPP.

The radar was presented to the Havelock Community Policing Committee through chairman Don Mathews for the exclusive use of the Campbellford detachment. The OPP department here covers the villages of Havelock, Hastings, Warkworth, the town of Campbellford plus the townships of Seymour, Percy, Belmont and a portion of Asphodel.

"We have so thoroughly en-joyed our business relationship in this area and have often considered doing something to show our appreciation to the public," said Mr. Brett. "It occurred to us that by providing this radar to the Campbellford OPP detachment it would be a benefit to everyone in the interests of promoting safer

The gesture, added Mr. Brett. is also a personal token of appreciation for the assistance received from the OPP detachment over than 30 per cent from two years ago without destroying services, without laying off thousands of workers and without sending a recovering economy a shock it could not absorb," Mr. Laughren maintained.

He says they will be able to maintain funding in 1996-97 "because of the government's care-ful planning" but adds that "any federal government action would unfairness to Ontario:" Mr. Laughren lamented.

Snow storm spares annual event but Mother Nature sends cold weather

He said a unilateral cap on payments for social assistance and underfunding for training and immigration programs and other actions cost Ontario $8.6 billion in 1994-95.

Now the federal government has made it clear they intend to cut further into transfers to the provinces. Because of that probability, we can't give our partners the guarantees they deserve on fund-ing for 1996-97."

In his statement, Mr. Laughren also said that funding for social service agencies will stay at cur-rent levels for '95-96 and social assistance rates will be unchanged.

He also outlined a "new initiative." already met with some dispublic-sector restructuring.

He says such a strategy is "un-derscored by the possibility of further shortfalls in federal funding and by the expiry of the Social Contract on March 31, 1996.

The success of the Social Contract in avoiding lay-offs meant the use of the $300 million Job Security Fund it created has been minimal, he explained.

"We will therefore move re-ources from the fund to support these new programs that will provide employers and workers with the tools they need to manage change." he said.

Public sector unions have said this announcement is an admission that layoffs are on the way the Social Contract to create a job registry by March 31, 1995. The registries will match laid-off workers with job opportunities in the public sector.

He says the government will also increase funding to retrain workers for new jobs and will provide income and training support for those on the job registries. They will also sponsor "demonstration projects" highlighting workplaces where worker-management co-operation has saved money and maintained services.

"In order to make sure workers are involved in change," Mr. Laughren says an "organization's access to the training program and to the demonstration projects will depend on restructuring plans that are developed jointly by labour and management. Access to these programs will also be tied to participation in a sector's job registry, he added.

Laughren touts the new initiative as "the most comprehensive public sector labour adjustment strategy in North America."
It is to run until April 1, 1997.

Recently, Ontario has forged ahead of the rest of the international snowmobiling world. Boasting the world's largest trail system and membership, the Ontario Federation of Snowmobile Clubs (OFSC) also lead the way in safety, environment, driver training and charity programs.

Ontario snowmobilers are the Ontario snowmobilers are the beneficiaries of this progress: better grooming: improved signage and mapping, more trails, more connections, better accessibility and more reliable winter fun for the entire family.

the entire family.

As Ontario has transformed almost overnight from a disparate series of local trail systems into the world's foremost integrated network, snowmobiling's popularity soared. Today, almost 100 per cent more Ontarians hit the trails than in 1990. Snowmobilers from other provinces and border states are making Ontario their first wintertime daespion choice.

But Ontario snowmobiling

But Ontario snowmobiling may become the victimofits own success. When the new TOP (Trans Ontario Provincial) Trail System comes on stream in 1995, will Ontario be able to wave the world class flag over its trails? Perhaps.

The fly in the ointment may be a shortage of reliable grooming equipment. And without groomers, great trails bite the dust. The problem is simple. On-

The problem is simple. Ontario's phenomenal growth in trail development and participation is in danger of overwhelming grooming capacity. According to 1994 figures published by the International Association of Snownobile Administrators, Ontario has offit 89 "industrial size" groomers, 94 "medium" units and 152 "smalf" ones to groom 35,000 kms of trails.

Given that the 152 small units are outdated toys that are fast becoming obsolete in a modern, world class grooming fleet, this leaves the province with 183 groomers, or one per every 191 kilometres.

Compare this to Quebec, whose 391-strong industrial fleet covers 30.000 kms of one unit for 77 kilometres, an almost two and a half times better ratio than Ontario. Add into this equation the facts that half of Ontario's existing units are classified as "medium" whose grooming capability can't compare to larger industrial machines. And that many of this province's fleet are on their last legs, age-wise, requiring prompt replacement.

Now consider that most Ontario snowmobile clubs are already strapped to meet their current payments and cover increased trail operating expenses. In fact, recent figures released by the OFSC indicate that the total annual operating cost for clubs has reached about $343 per kilometre of trail, almost double what they net each season from selling trail permits. So few clubs have the immediate capacity to fund the huge capital equipment upgrades necessary to bring the Ontario grooming fleet into fine with today's rider demand. Will Ontario fall flat on its face? Unlikely, if the OFSC has its way. The Federation is already talking about a long-term plan to assure that the province's grooming needs are met into the next soften. So new industrial groomers have been purchased by clubs. But the plan needs a kick start with new dollars to lever even more-units onto the snow fast. The short-term sayours could.

The short-term saviours could be Ontario snowmobilers. In yet another ground-breaking first, the OFSC has faunched a member donation program called "The-Great Grooning Plan." A direct mail appeal to each OFSC permit hölder asks them to step into the breach by making a contribution that will help solve the immediate problem.

Essentially, it's the same as a hospital building fund, asking the users to fund a process from which they will directly benefit. Launched in conjunction with the international snowmobiling community's first snowmobiling calendar, the Great Groomine Plan hopes to raise $250,000 in 1995.

In return, members receive a full colour calendar both as a reminder of the need and in appreciation of their anticipated support. Contributors qualify for weekly and monthly prize draws and also to purchase additional gift calendars at substantial savings. It's a unique and innovative way for the Ontario snowmobiling community to show its support for organized snowmobiling.

If Ontario snowmobilers are as passionate about their sport as the OFSC predicts, Ontario will be able to raise its flag past half mast this winter. Great trails and great grooming depends on it. To make your donation, call the OFSC. Until next time, happy trails and remember: SledSmart—Rule Safe, Ride Sober.

For information on local snowmobiling. Snowaramas and clubs, contact the Ontario Federation of Snowmobile Clubs (OFSC) at 705-739-7669. To plan your Ontario tour, call 1-800-236-SLED.

The trio played steadily through a variety unlimited of carols and old time favourites all of which were enjoyed by the guests who joined in the singing of carols adding to the festive

However, there was also a sad note; one of the Pioneer Club members was missing. Jim-Wallace, who passed away so re-cently was missed by all.

Jim and his wife Irene, who is President of the Pioneers, both of whom worked so faithfully in helping in the organization of the Pioneers and whose interest in the club never wavered through the days, good and not so good, who remained so cheerful and interested in everything and every-body connected with the Pioneers. Norwood-Havelock C.W.L.

Prayer intentions for the Church and World leaders, the community and the parish families, including the sick, were offered during the Mass. Following the Mass, a lovely pot luck supper was enjoyed by all during which special Christmas greeting cards with personalized messages were signed out for Anne Crowley to be delivered to her at the Kingston Hospital

President Marg VanWill reported that Jan English was plan-ning to attend a ten-day world youth conference in Manilla, Philippines leaving January 6. A let-ter from Jan was read giving some details of the conference and in particular the planned personal conference with Pope John Paul

Jan felt confident that ideas gathered from this conference would benefit both herself and our parish.

To Father Witold, a cheque was given for the Norwood/ Asphodel Renovation Fund. This cheque was the result of the suc-cessful Bazaar ticket sales and the Royal Fund campaign.

Also to Father Witold, was given a personal cheque as a Christmas gift from the ladies of the League

And then from under the beautifully-adorned Christmas tree arrive "Evan the Elf" to present a Christmas package to each person. Sharing these gifts and visit-ing with each other was the final touch for the wonderful evening. President Marg thanked Val for hosting our Social and providing her home for our gathering: for Father Witold for celebrating the Mass with us and for the ladies who let the Spirit of Christmas flow from their hearts to be shared with others during the evening's celebrations.

And so the end came for another Christmas Social but within each person leaving was the re-newal of the Spirit of Christmas -- that of warmth and wonder that would flow to others and be the agent for "Peace on Earth."

Victorian-style Christmas enjoyed in Warkworth

Unique Experience: In one of the most unique celebrations of the festive season in the area. Heritage Percs sponsored an old fashioned Christmas experience Dec. 17th in the charming village of Warkworth. A big crowd turned out, many in Vicerian clubes, to take part in the annual lamern walk and carolling session around the village. Bill Isaac did a good job leading the carollers.

Village's photo copier ushered into retirement

Machine churns out 25,000 copies a year

Norwood - The village's photo opier, which has more than tri pled the number of copies it pro-duced when first purchased, needs to be replaced and council has taken the first steps towards buy ing a more modern machine

The old machine is in need of upwards of $600 in repairs right now, Clerk-Administrator Glenn Girven explained to council last

The reality is there is no value in it "he said notine that the drum alone would cost $600 and is near the burn-out stage.

When the completely manual machine was first bought it was assumed they would be making about 8,000 copies each year. In the past year, they actually made 25,000 copies. Mr. Girven said

That's a lot of standing at the photo-copier." Mr., Girven says they have $1600 in the office budget earmarked for a replacement ma-

The current machine is shared with the Public Utilities Commis-sion so the PUC will be invited to share a (lower) portion of the cost, of purchasing another photo

Mr. Girven says they may be able to find more than $1600 in their budget and proposes to borrow $1,000 from reserve over the next three years and then re-pay the village the office capital budget

Council agreed to the proposal subject to a trial of the machine by staff and the approval of the

They voted to accept a package from Complete Business Sys terns which would furnish a ratur hished machine valued at $4551.

The PUC has since agreed to pay one-fifth for the machine ta Konica 3035) and one-fifth for maintenance

Diary of Santa Claus

Dear Diary

I've had a pretty good year so far

The elves are almost done making all the toys for the little girls and boys

I hope it doesn't storm this year, but if it does I've always got Rudolph.

Mrs. Claus is almost done making my new suit, because I've gained 10 pounds since last year! Talk to you soon! Love Santa Claus

Dear Diary: It's been a while since I've talked to you. Christmas is coming!

Dancer is pretty sick. If he doesn't come through I'll have to take Rudolph. Well here comes Mrs. Claus with my supper. Gotta go! Love Santa Claus

Dear Diary: Ho Ho Ho...How are you doing diary?

It's only five days away the elves are not working fast enough!! I know that because Mrs. Claus is helping them!

Mrs. Claus has been working pretty hard. She is done making my suit, and it looks great on me Dancer is feeling a lot better. I hope the elves get done with the toys in time!

Bye-Bye Love Santa Claus

Dear Diary: I've got great news the elves are done making the toys and Dancer has fully recovered! There's just one thing...the last time I tried on my suit, it sort of ripped! Mrs. Claus had to sew it, but it was no big deal. Well, I'd better go get some sleep tomorrow is Christmas Eve!

Christmas

It's Christmas Eve! I'm in my room laying in my bed with my pillow over my head. I can't get to sleep because I can't stop think-ing about Christmas in the morning. It's 10 p.m. now and I finally have gotten to sleep. Now it 6 in the morning and I have woken up so I creep down stairs with a smile on my face. I have opened my presents now. So me and my family are in the car off to see some more of my family. Now Christmas is over and we've had so much fun. Now I have to say "Bye" because my story is over.

The End.

The Year The Elves Went On Strike

One year just before Christ-mas, when everything was almost, ready just out of nowhere, the lefes went on strike. Let's start from the beginning when it was only two month away from Christmas. It was October 24 and the Elves were working extra hard because they wanted to get the toys ready for Christmas and they wanted to get the rest of the night off. The elves had to do a lot of things before Christmas. They had to get the reindeer ready, get the toys ready, get Santa's outfit dry cleaned, get the sleigh polished, and get some new bags to put the toys in. By that time if they were finished all that they had to have a wote to see who was going with Santa to help him with the gifts. They were getting really mad by that time so they had a vote themselves. Everyone said they wanted to go on strike, so they did when Santa found out he begged them to come back. But they said, "No". The thing the elves wanted to have was one month without making any toys after Santa, and the elves agreed on it everything was

What Is Christmas!

Christmas is the birth of Jesus. A time to love and care, to gather with the ones you love to celebrate and share.

Christmas is a time of giving and not expecting to receive.

A time to thank the Lord for things like being there to help us believe.

Christmas is a Christmas tree with bright and colorful lights.

And being with a loving family watching beautiful Christmas

Christmas is smiling faces when the children see their toys, The man called Santa Claus is the reason for their joys.

Christmas is good food and lots of yummy, yummy sweets And getting really spoiled with all granny's little treats.

But really, Christmas is special so make sure you never forget!
It will probably stay in your mind all the time at least that is "I

On December 24th

On December 24th a poor family looks in the window at family putting up their stockings.
But some families are sitting outside watching the snow fall With no Christmas tree no presents. A family of five sits on the street while they watch other families turn off their light and go to sleep.

For this family of five has no home. All they have is each other. So when you open your presents and pull your toys out of your stocking, remember those who have no stockings or presents. They hardly have warmth. So please on December...Remember

Santa Gets Stuck

It was Christmas Eve and all the children were very excited. Jan and Billy had left some milk and cookies out for Santa. Jan and Billy started getting ready for bed when they heard something. It was Santa. He was stuck in the chimney. Jan asked, "Should we leave Santa there, ?" "Yes", said

Once upon a time there was a little house in the North Pole. Santa was the one who lived there. It was almost Christmas night. But some kids didn't believe Santa. The next morning was the night that Santacame. Now it was night. Santa went from house to house Some kids didn't get any presents. It was morning. Kids ran to the Christmas tree. They ripped open their presents. Some kids got what they wanted. All the kid had lots of fun.
